NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY,

Preston L. Tally, thirty-two years old, an employe of Francis H. Leggett & Co., wholesale grocers of New-York City, was held for trial on a serious charge yesterday by Justice Donoghue, in a serious charge yesterday by the Court of Special Sessions. He was charged by City Marshal James J. Quinn with forcibly entering the grocery store of Andrew Summerville, of No. 33 Palisade-ave., and removing from it goods which he had levied on and were in his charge. On March 25 Elmina C. Wandell obtained an attachment against the goods, and Quinn cosed the store and locked it with a padlock. Last Thurs-day, while he was out of the city, Tally came up store and locked it with a paneous last day, while he was out of the city. Tally came up from New-York with trucks and removed the goods. It is alieged that he broke the lock which Quinn placed there. Tally alieges that he acted as agent for Leggett & Co., to whom the goods had been assigned by Summerville previous to the lien of any other creditor. John B. Lord, of Brooklyn, who has charge of the legal affairs of the firm, engaged William C. Keilogg, of this city, to represent Tally when the case comes up for trial next Thursday morning.

This evening A. J. Prime, of Yonkers, admiral of the New-York Yacht Racing Association, will pay an official visit to the club at Bayonne, N. J. A dinner will be given in his honor, and a number of the members of the Yonkers Corinthian Yacht Club, of which Mr. Prime is commodore, will accompany him.

The Rev. W. W. Alexander, who for some time has been in charge of Woodhill Chapel, a branch of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, of this city, and located in the Fourth Ward, has resigned the pastorate of the church. He preached his Losing sermon in the city Sunday evening.

NEW-JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY.

The Branch Supreme Court of New-Jersey sat at Jersey City yesterday to extend the stay granted to John N. Crusius, John C. Carr, Gottlieb Walto John N. Crusius, John C. Carr, Gottlieb Walthaum and Dennis McLaughlin, the Guttenburg "Big Four." The stay was limited to April I, in the expectation that the appeal to the Court of Errory would have been acted upon by that date. The Court, however, will not decide the case until May 10, and so, to relieve the decidendants from tae necessity of going to the penitentiary yesterday, the Court extended the stay until May 18. The defendants were present, but were not called to the courtroom. Justice Dixon simply announced that the matter of the conviction of Crusius and others would stand adjourned until May 18.

NEWARK.

In the Newark courts yesterday, Charles Hoecking, the swindler and bigamist, who made a business of marrying women to get their money business of marrying women to get their money and then descring them, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced for a term of three years in State Prison. Albert St. Clair, alias Albert Voullaire, a companion of Hoecking, in Sing Sing, who passed a forged check on F. T. Herbert, was sentenced for a term of two years in State Prison. Application was made to the Road Committee of the Hoard of Freeholders yesterday by the Passaic and Newark Electric Railway Company for permission to lay tracks in Washington-ave, from Relleville to Franklin Trownship, to connect the Consolidated Traction Company's system in Jersey City and Newark with Passaic and Paterson and other places in Passaic and Bergen counties. The committee will go over the road and make an inspection of it before acting upon the application.

AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

A BRIDGE TICKET AGENT TURNS THIEF.

The examination of George Hirsch, the Bridge "ticket chopper," suspected of abstracting Bridge tickets from the box and seiling them for his own benefit, yesterday disclosed the fact that Horace II. Kelsey, a ticket agent at the Bridge, acted in collusion with Hirsch. Kelsey was to have been preslusion with Hirsch. Kelsey was to have been present yesterday at the examination, but he disappeared on Friday and has not since been seen. Kelsey was the oldest agent in the service of the Bridge Company and enjoyed the confidence of his superiors. With his wife and beby he has been living at No. 64 Hicks-st. His-arelatives have been informed that if they will make good the loss, no detectives will but on Kelsey's track. Hirsch was yesterday discharged.

SUTHERLAND'S FINE NOT PAID. Kenneth F. Sutherland's friends did not come forward yesterday to pay his fine of $60, and McKane's adjutant began serving his 500 days in Crow Hill, where he has been for ten months. Efforts are being made to have his fine paid and have him kept at Crow Hill instead of sending him to Sing Sing.

A number of his friends went to see Judge
Brown, of Newburg, in relation to the matter yes-

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN.

George F. Elliott, counsel to the Board of Supervisors, has sent a communication to that body on question of county money being paid to private charitable institu tution. He gives it as his opinion that the board should proceed to audit the bills of the various in stitutions receiving juvenile delinquents or destitute children by commitment, and that the matter should be satisfactorily arranged.

At a preliminary meeting of the Board of Manevers for the purpose of naming the new institution for the blind, it was decided to call it the Home for Blind Women.

Controller George W. Palmer appointed Charles A. Scott, a veteran, of the Fifth Ward, a clerk in the Bureau of Taxes, at a salary of $1,200 a year. He made the appointment, he said, under Chapter 717, Laws of 1894, without Scott submitting to a Civil Service examination. Secretary Campbell, of the Civil Service Commission, has informed the Controller that he refuses to recognize the apointment. Controller Palmer says he intends to retain Scott in his place, despite the opinion of Mr. Campbell. Mr. Scott, the Controller says, will begin mandamus proceedings in case the Civil Service Commission refuses to approve his salary at Postmaster Sullivan says that the quarter just closed shows the greatest increase in quarterly re-celpts in the Brooklyn postoffice on record. ### COLONEL SMITH DID NOT APPEAR.

HE FAILED TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE 69TH LAST NIGHT.

In spite of the fact that Lieutenant-Colonel Smith of the 7th Regiment, who has been detailed to take charge of the 69th Battallon, was expected to appear at the armory, at Third-ave, and Sixth-st., last night, and take formal charge of the battallon, the attendance was extremely small. Colonel Smith did not appear. No one seemed to know why he had not come. The most generally accepted story was to the effect that Colonel Smith had been called out of town.

DROWNED IN A STATIONARY WASHTUR

STRANGE DISCOVERY OF A FIREMAN WHILE TRYING TO SUBDUE FLAMES IN A BROOK-LYN HOUSE-A POSSIBLE INCENDIARY

AS WELL AS SUICIDE. early yesterday morning in the home of Henry Harteau, president of the Metropolitan Glass Company, No. 554 Washington-ave., Brooklyn, led to the discovery of the body of Halma Pearson, twenty-two years old, a servant in the employ of the family, with her head and shoulders submerged in a stationary washtub. Henry McGuire, a fire-man, was dragging the hose through the basement, when he saw the girl's body hanging over the edge of the tub, which was nearly full of water. Death had resulted from drowning, apparently; the body was still warm. McGuire grasped her by the shoul ders, thinking she might be in a faint, but she fell in a heap at his feet. He carried out the body and sent for an ambulance. The body was taken to the Morgue. The fire did only $300 damage. Mr. Harteau's home is in a fine neighborhood. He said he smelled smoke at 6 o'clock, and rushed downstairs in order to see what caused it. When downstairs in order to see what caused it. When he got to the foot of the basement stairs he called loudly for the girl, but got no response. Then he threw open the front door and shouted "Fire!" The fire started in a closet where the servant kept her dresses. Mr. Harteau believes the girl deliberately set the closet on fire and then committed suicide. Her parents live in Sweden. About a week ago, she remarked that she was tired of living, and the following day cut her wrist with a knife. Highest of all in Leavening Power .- Latest U.S. Gov't Report sary instantaneous flash Mr. Mark had recourse to electricity, and was only allowed one minute to perform the operation.

TO REPRODUCE A BIG FLASHLIGHT PICTURE This week's issue of "Harper's Weekly" will condouble-page illustration of the photograph taken by Ernest Marx, of the audience assembled at the Metropolitan Opera House on March 21, during a representation of Wagner's "Siegfried." In many respects the achievement was unique and marks another advance in photographic science. Experts will appreciate the many technical difficulties that were overcome in the shape of numerous lights burning with a varied illuminating power the uncertain effects of the shadows, and the per-spectives. In taking this picture the photographer sed fourteen ounces of flashlight powder, and the light thrown forward searched out every crack and crevice of the auditorium, for not a ray of light was to be wasted. The camera was in the centre of the flashing frame on the stage, some twenty feet back of the footlights. To obtain the necessary instantaneous flash Mr. Marx had recourse

Focussing his lens, the ground glass shade having been removed and deftly replaced by the sensitive plate (18x22 inches), the photographer made a signal to his assistant behind the scenes, under whose control was a battery with a power of 350 ampères and 10 volts. Before the andience could say "Oh!" it was all over, and yet there was a lassing record of a vast concourse of people. Mr.

Marx's calculation is that the flash took one-forty-fifth of a second, and that the efficiency of the actinic ray had a duration of one-eightieth of a sec-
